Abstract

The abstract is a brief summary of your research, including the research problem, methodology, key findings, and conclusion. The abstract should typically be between 150 to 300 words. Write it in a concise and informative manner, summarizing the most important aspects of your thesis.

Acknowledgments

(Optional) You may wish to thank those who supported you during your research and writing process. This can include advisors, colleagues, friends, and family members.

1. Introduction

The introduction should provide background information about the research problem, the purpose of your study, and an overview of the structure of your thesis. Include the research question(s) and your thesis statement.

2. Literature Review

Provide an overview of existing research relevant to your thesis topic. Discuss key studies and theories that form the basis of your research. Identify gaps in the literature that your research will address.

3. Methodology

Describe the research design, data collection methods, and analysis techniques used in your study. This section should be detailed enough for someone else to replicate your study.

4. Results

Present the findings of your research. Use tables, figures, and charts where necessary to visually represent your data. Make sure to summarize your key results in text format as well.

5. Discussion

Discuss the implications of your findings in relation to your research question(s) and the literature review. Highlight any unexpected results and possible explanations. You can also discuss limitations of your study here.

6. Conclusion

Summarize the key findings of your research, its implications, and potential areas for future research. Conclude by reflecting on the importance of your study within the broader field.

7. References

List all the sources cited in your thesis following the referencing style required by your institution (e.g., APA, MLA, Chicago). Make sure your references are complete and formatted correctly.

8. Appendices

Include any supplementary materials, such as questionnaires, raw data, or additional figures, if necessary. Appendices should be clearly labeled and referenced in the main text.

Formatting Guidelines:

- Font: Use a standard font like Times New Roman or Arial, 12-point size.
- Line Spacing: Double-spaced throughout the document.
- Margins: 1-inch margins on all sides.
- Headings: Use a consistent hierarchy of headings (e.g., Chapter titles as "Heading 1", section titles as "Heading 2", etc.).
- Page Numbers: Insert page numbers in the bottom right corner of each page.
- File Format: The final submission must be in PDF format, and the file size should be under 10MB.
